Two Bad Boys.

a small white boy, 10 years old, son of John Swartz, of Landmark, who runs a threshing machine, was hired to Mr. Tiffany to thin corn. Mr. T. paid the wages to the boy, who spent the money, and fearing his father's correction ran away from home and has been absent-ever since. It appears he was captured by his father near Upperville, but gave him the slip near Middleburg and turn-d up at Orlean, where Mr. Jeffries, overseer of the poor, persuaded Mr. Henry Lee to care for him until his parents could be found. Mr. Lee con-sented and treated the little fellow as a day George stole a silver watch and a pair of shoes from Mr. Lee and struck out for Marshall. He was overtaken two miles from Selone and brought to Warrenton Thursday morning, to take advice as to what should be done with him. Before a conclusion was reached another boy named John Swartz, aged 11 years, rode into town on a bay mare with a colt following her. She is crippled in her left hind foot and with her colt valued at $75. The two boys soon fell in with each other, and offering to sell in with each other, and offering to sell the mare and colt for $25 were committed to jail on suspicion of theft. On being questioned John said he had worked a year and a half for Mr. Hulfish, who gave him the mare and colt for his wages. Neither boy recognized the other till they were both in jail. John then said George was his brother, and that his father had horrowed the and that his father had borrowed the mare from Mr. Ben. Dawson, of Landmark, for him to ride while looking for Sheriff Whitacre visited the boys in jail and identified both as sons of John Swartz, of Landmark, but he failed to identify the mare and colt as the prop-plained that they were insufferable. At dinner one evening she revealed the secret of her immunity. Taking from I presume, is simply a crystallization of peppermint and ammonia, she explained: "Before I go out to encounter the mosquitoes I rub this over my hands, from my eyes, as its pungent odor makes the tears come. Mosquitoes will not bite so long as they smell the peppermint. If I ever get bitten I don't irritate the part by scratching it, but simply rub the mentholine pencil over it and the stinging sensation dis-appears in short order." I tried the mentholine experiment on many occasions after this and found it a success even in the woods, where mosquitoes are often the thickest and most vicious. As one especially susceptible to the stings of the troublesome insects, I re-

To THE CRITICAL.-Whatever you do, never set up as a critic. We don't mean a newspaper one, but in private life, in the domestic circle, in society It will not do any one any good, and it will do you harm—if you mind being called disagreeable. If you don't like any ones nose, or object to any one's chin, don't put your feelings into words. If any ones manners don't please you, remember your own. People are not all made to suit one taste; recollect that. Take things as you find them. Even a dinner, after it is swallowed, can be made no better. Continual fault finding, continual criticism of the conduct of this one, and the speech of that one, the dress of the other, will make home the unhappiest place under the sun. If you are never pleased with any one, no one will be pleased with you. And if it is known you are hard to suit, few will take the pains to suit
